	Director, Jacqui Voland, Outreach Director, and Poonam Kumar, Outreach Assistant Host: KUED KUED’s Diverse Voices campaign is a multi-faceted project that encompasses programming, public screenings, discussions, conferences, and workshops about diverse populations, cultures, and topics. The Diverse Voices campaign uses key PBS and KUED productions as a springboard for open dialogue and meaningful action in the community. All “Diverse Voices” film screenings and discussions are free and open to the public. Examples of topics covered included the environment, organ donor awareness, wilderness, Holocaust memorial, veteran’s issues, religion, education, politics, and cultural diversity. Another massive project KUED undertook is the “We Shall Remain” project uncovering the untold history of the American Indians. KUED produced and broadcast a five-part local documentary series focusing on the local American Indian history and the importance of preserving culture and language. Along with this multi-faceted project is a 24-lesson plan curriculum guide that was distributed to all 4th, 7th, and high schools throughout the state in the fall of 2009. We work with a variety of community partners to present screenings statewide of the series. KUED’s public affairs series, “Utah Now”, addresses topics relevant to the local community. Hosted by Doug Fabrizio, the 30 minute magazine-style series directly follows the PBS NOW program, featuring issues, events and people that are affecting life and creating dialogue.
